

LEWIS S. BLISS, M.D.

EDUCATION

High School: Beaumont Kelly, Valedictorian 1975
Undergraduate: Texas A & M University, 1975-1978, Microbiology Major
Medical School: University of Texas Medical Branch, M.D., Cum Laude 1982
Internship: Alton Oschner Medical Foundation Hospitals
New Orleans, LA; Internal Medicine 1982-1983
Residency: University of Texas Medical Branch
Ophthalmology, July 1983-July 1986

LICENSURE

Diplomate Flex, 1982
Diplomate Texas State Board of Medical Examiners, 1982
California State Board Medical Quality Assurance

BOARD CERTIFICATION

American Board of Ophthalmology, 1988

HONORS

Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society
Edward Randall Award, U.T Medical Branch, 1982
Dean's Commendation, Texas A & M
Mu Delta Honor Society

WORK HISTORY

Private Practice Medical/ Surgical Ophthalmology 1986-present, Carmichael CA

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

Fellow, American Academy of Ophthalmology
American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery
Alta Ophthalmology Society
Alpha Omega Alpha

RESEARCH

“Oculo-cerebro-cutaneous Syndrome” – a case report and review of rare congenital disease entity. Presented at University of Texas Medical Branch 1985.

“The National Ocular Trauma Study” – a review of distribution of pathology, management and results at University of Texas Medical Branch. Presented at University of Texas Medical Branch.

Primary Investigator – “Study of microsporidial keraconjunctivitis and treatment with fumagillin bicyclohexylammonium salt (Fumidil B)”, 1993

Primary Investigator – “A double blind study of the effects of levocabastine hydrochloride vs. ketorolac tromethamine on seasonal allergic conjunctivitis” for IOLAB, a division of Johnson and Johnson, 1993-1994

PRESENTATIONS

“Advances in Eye Surgery” – Continuing Education Presentation to Primary Care Physicians – Mercy San Juan Hospital – May 5, 2000

HOSPITAL AFFILIATIONS

Mercy San Juan Hospital, Senior Staff – 1986-present

Chair-Division of Ophthalmology 1989-1994, 1997-1998

Mercy San Juan Outpatient Surgery Center, Senior Staff